Hybrid Teaching Institute (HTI)

The Hybrid Teaching Institute is an engaging professional development opportunity designed to help prepare faculty to offer their courses through a blend of asynchronous and synchronous instruction. Designed by the facilitators of Online Learning Toolkit, experts in teaching and learning, the Hybrid Teaching Institute is dedicated to making the hybrid course design process accessible and enjoyable for faculty at every level of teaching and technology experience.. This institute will focus on simplifying hybrid course design by introducing faculty to sustainable processes and easy to apply design templates. Through the HTI, faculty will learn how to design engaging hybrid learning experiences.
